

SELF-REALIZATION VS. SOCIAL SERVICE

Most of those who seek self-realization do so at the expense of others, whereas many who devote their lives to service to others incur sacrifice of self. A good society is one that (a) makes self-realization possible and at the same time (b) includes social service among the actions necessary to attain self-realization.

Inv 82928
FT 081