

PERSONAL MORALITY

Personal morals are about individual happiness, excellence (or self-improvement), and right action - all these in a social context, of course.

Ancient philosophers dealt almost exclusively with personal morality. Religionists added the social dimension (though usually ~~only~~ subordinated to personal salvation), ~~and so nowadays~~ From the beginning of the modern era ethics became less & less interested in personal morality, and increasingly interested in social morality.

no 8311
11 2+2