

MORALLY WRONG

Anything that may injure others is morally controvertible. Anything that may injure people who are not actively engaged in injuring others is morally wrong. On the other hand doing something injurious to self, such as smoking or even committing suicide, is not morally wrong.

6.

17 sales